Ms. Per Cent. to Westernacher on Co. tion Cases From Lawyer Flannery -Opposition Show Puts Up Dr. Plecrust and Wm. Alserandelph Hearst.

Union Square, where your father Deniel Drew used to meditate on his logical seminary, is getting excited. The cow and graft pipe exhibit of the 100 has already been described in the newspapers, and for that reason the daily crowds examine that first and that seemingly entices them on to further samination. Yesterday a corps of shers had to be employed to direct the novements of the crowd and as far as ible prevent confusion and congeshearsely calling attention to an addition to the exhibits made yesterday.

These were photographic exhibits purporting to show McCarren's hand in the ns of the so-called Flannery syndicate in certain park condemnation

The photographs consisted of a series of reproductions of letters signed by soseph A. Flannery addressed to various people promising them as his various promising them as high as [25 er cent. of any fee that Flannery might ain from clients interested in the sale of land required for parks. But the photographic reproductions are small and difficult to read, so easily read placards set forth the salient figures: The rapid and mysterious advance of 200 or 200 per cent. above the assessed value of such lends when Mr. Flannery had succeeded in disposing of them to the city. Many of Flannery's letters were signed ree the committee of 100 had obtained what were asserted to be the originals of four signed by Flannery himself, and these were photographically reproduced as follows:

Gottfried, it is further stated by the committee, solicited business for Flannery, to induce McCarren to force Flannery to the originals of the Flannery-Gottfried letters.

That competition in this new matter of campaigning is as good as students of economics say it is good in trade was proved by the result of the opening near the committee of one hundred's exhibit of an opposition show. In the opposition headquarters the appeal was not so much to the reason or the pocket of the tax-payer as to his pride. Placards on its wall told of the wonderful progress of the pity and attributed all this to Tammany. It had the dummies of three men in a row who were cryptically labelled William Alsorandolph, Hearst, "Beatrice Barefacts" and "Dr. Piecrust." Over these dummies was the appeal, written large: "Rebuke the Mud Throwers by an X in the gircle under the Star." Who the mud throwers who are to be rebuked are was told in a list of contributors to the Municipal Research Bureau.

Both shows drew crowds. In the afternoon, even before the homegoing rush filled Union Square with its evening trowds, the bands and the barkers had an eased such a number of people to pause, look and listen that the police had tot be called upon to help clear the way.

LONE ROBBER'S BIG HAUL.

Seattle Express Office. SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 11 .- A robber ded the offices of the Great Northern Express Company at the King street station last night at midnight, looted the lastesand escaped with plunder amounting to thousands of dollars. Although the molecular distributions of the second states are street to the second states and second states are states as a second s police immediately took up the chase no man of the robber has been found. Clerk E. W. Simonson was alone in the offices when the door was suddenly pushed open and a masked man heavily pushed open and a masked man heavily armed entered. He ordered the chief clerk to open the safes which contained the statistics and Sunday transcontinental subments, and when the clerk had compiled he was bound hand and foot, parted and carried into another room. A few minutes later, when Simonson's assistant, A. P. White, returned from lunch, he was treated similarly.

The robber then proceeded leisurely to strip the offices and strong boxes of valuable contents. Sacks of gold and silver and paper money were the principal things obtained by the robber. The exact amount of money taken had not been determined up to noon to-day.

UNION SQUARE ALL HET UP TO CONTROL CHICAGO'S VICE. New Police Chief Moves for Segregation and a Cleaning Up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 .- Following the most drastic police order to control the red light district in the history of the city issued by Chief of Police Steward yes-terday resorts in Chicago's three chief evee districts entered upon a new stage of their existence last night. Lights burned with diminished and diminishing brilliancy.

The order, following so closely upor the heels of the conviction of Inspector McCann, is considered by the reform ele ment as a bona fide effort on the part of the city officers to clean up the town. Chief Steward's new regulations, the levee concluded as the day closed in a sullen evening, could not be evaded. Old sullen evening, could not be evaded. Old habitués of the red light districts gathered and discussed their future. Some said they would move. Others said they would comply with the new rules.

To the vice trust, which has ruled with a rod of iron in the Twenty-second street district, the drastic order came as a body blow. This trust, through ownership and control and example, has been the dictator of the fortunes of hundreds of women in the resorts of the neighborhood for years. One of Chief Steward's rules is that men will not be permitted to own resorts where women are inmates. This rule will tear from the old ring its mastery in vice.

5. All males who subsist on the incomes from women residents of the so-called red light districts shall be arrested as red light districts shall be allowed to loiter about the premises and all found; so doing without visible means of support shall be dealt with as vagrants.

7. No males shall be allowed to be the owners or to conduct disorderly

8. There shall be no swinging doors— only double doors, and these at all times be permitted in any exit.

12. No women without male escorts shall be allowed in saloons. This rule must be rigidly enforced.

The scope of Chief Steward's ambition for the segregation and control of vice includes not only the driving out of the men who have lived by the sacrifice of women, the elimination of much of the ease of access to low resorts and their temptations, but also the prohibition of the sale of intoxicants in the houses.

WHITMAN SAYS MACHINE RULE OF THE CITY WON'T DO.

He Wouldn't Appoint a Tammany Man or Appeint Anybody Merely as a Republican—Mitchel Says Stop Waste—Bannard Says the Hundred's Great Stuff.

The fusion candidates were formally notified yesterday of their indorsement by the committee of 100. The ceremony took place in the headquarters of the committee in the Fifth Avenue Building. The notification address was made by Prof. Franklin H. Giddings of Columbia University. The tenor of the speech made by Mr. Giddings was that the committee had set out to select candidates who could be depended upon to give a business administration to the city and that he thought that they had achieved that object. Otto T. Bannard, the candidate for Mayor, in accepting the indorsement said:

"You have given six months of trying, vexatious labor for the purpose of obaining good government for this much plundered city. No one knows better than myself the difficulties which you rule will tear from the old ring its mastery in vice.

The complete list of instructions sent out thus far follows:

1. Permit no soliciting, either on the streets, in doorways, from windows or in salcons.

2. Permit no signs, lights, colors or other devices to be anywhere displayed indicative of the character of the premises occupied as a house of ill repute.

3. No so-called exhibitions or shows will be permitted in any disorderly house.

4. No persons less than 18 years old will be permitted in the districts or to enter the premises under any circumstances, messenger and delivery boys included.

5. All males who subsist on the incomes have surmounted, nor how easy it was unworthy of your confidence. As a business man I shall work for the best interests of the city, and I approve most heartily of the fusion platform.

John Purroy Mitchel, candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, said that he thought that he was qualified to fill the office for which he had been nominated for the reason that the service he had given to the city during the last two years as Commissioner of Accounts had been devoted "to the detection and exposure of the waste, misuse and theft of public funds and to the study of adequate means of prevention of those things in future." Mr.Mitchel continued:

"Our resources are not great enough to maintain the spoils system of Tammany Hall and at the same time satisfy the city's Hall and at the same time satisfy the city's pressing needs. Our resources are great enough to-day to satisfy them all if the spoils system be stamped out. The problem is to stop the waste, the waste of inefficiency, of graft and of sheer ignorance and apply the saving to the satisfaction of our needs and the reduction of our tax rate. It is a business problem which requires a business problem which requires a business programme."

Charles S. Whitman, candidate for District Attorney, in the course of his speech of acceptance said:

"I am and have been a member of the Republican party and I expect to remain

"I am and have been a member of the Republican party and I expect to remain such. I thoroughly sympathize, however, with the position held by a large number of our fellow citizens, Democrats, Republicans and independents alike, that it has been thoroughly demonstrated that the machine or party control of the affairs of a great city has worked almost incalculable injury to the citizens wherever it has become firmly entrenched.

"As far as I am concerned I pledge you that no man whose training or experience has been there, whose sympathies and prejudices are there, who has lived under the moral blight that that organization puts upon its followers, is fit to prosecute crime in this county."

Thereupon the league obtained several thousand signatures for the nomination of Mr. Metz by petition. The petitions were handed to him yesterday by a committee headed by John C. Eames of Claffin & Co., and he was asked to file them with the Board of Elections.

Mr. Metz, however, declined the nomination. He said:

In Juarez gambling is now flourishing along lines never before known on the American continent. In one gambling place whole families congregate to tempt chance and women of ill repute who are scorned on the streets are accepted as equals in the gambling houses. This has shocked El Paso.

It is the opinion among politicians here that Mr. Taft will not interfere, and if he does, it is declared, Mr. Diaz will pay no heed, as the Juarez gambling resorts have been erected with his sanction. It is declared that Mr. Diaz in the event of Mr. Taft's interference will take the position that if Americans want to come to Juarez to gamble that is their business and not the affair of El Paso.

Whether Mr. Crape Will Be Permitted to Go to China Is Not Known to Anybody Except Mr. Knox-The President to WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 .- From all acpounts the incident involving the recall to Washington from San Francisco of Charles R. Crane, the American Minister to China, is still unsettled. Secretary of State Knox, who came to Washington from Valley Forge, Pa., with the sole in tention of interviewing Mr. Crane in regard to certain of his alleged indiscreet actions, is remaining Mere and the time! of his departure is uncertain. Mr. Crane from Mr. Knox as to what disposition is to be made of his case.

"Not a word," was all that Mr. Knox would say in reply to inquiries as to deinderstood that Mr. Knox intended to return to Valley Forge this afternoon, but that he did not do is not regarded as significant. The prospects are that no new move bearing on the Crase matter will be made by Mr. Knox until he has received advices from President Taft, with whom he has doubtless communicated since his interview with Mr. Crane at the Knox residence last night.

There is now no reason for any further concealment of the reasons which actusted Secretary Knox in directing Mr and report in Washington without delay The truth is that Mr. Crane's recall was due to a belief on the part of the State indiscreet in references made in some of his after dinner speeches to the purpose

Mr. Crane is maintaining a diplomatic reticence, due unquestionably to advice from Mr. Knox, and Mr. Knox's "not a word" is all that the State Department is willing to utter. There is reason to believe that Mr. Crane was exceedingly frank in his interview with Mr. Knox and that from the standpoint of frankness at least he made a good impression.

But whether or not Mr. Crane is to be permitted to go to China is not known to anybody except Mr. Knox and perhaps one or two of his closest advisers. The best guess, for the Crane incident has resolved itself into a good deal of a guessing contest, is that until Mr. Knox has received advices from President Taft Mr. Crane's future official status will not be determined.

Everything known of the Crane incident indicates that Mr. Crane is in an exceedingly embarrassing and uncertain position. [He is maintaining himself, however, with a great deal of dignity and discretion, which the State Department apparently appreciates and has written down on the credit side of Mr. Crane's account in its ledger. One of the many rumors in circulation to-day was that Mr. Crane's commission as Minister to China is to be withdrawn, but up to a late hour to-night nothing had developed to confirm this surmise STEIL OUT OF THE RACE. Hebeken's Mayor Not to Run as an Independent for Reclection.

Mayor George H. Steil of Hoboken, who said on Saturday that he was in the race for reelection as an independent Democratic candidate against ex-Mayor Lawrence Fagan, candidate of the regulars, announced last evening that he had withdrawn from the race.

The Mayor reached the decision as the result of a call made upon him yesterday afternoon by a political peace commission consisting of James Hennessey, chairman of the Hudson county Democratic committee; City Clerk Michael I. Fagen of Jersey City, County Collector Stephen M. Egan and ex-Sheriff John Zeller, all non-residents of Hoboken, who acted under the direction of Robert Davis, the county leader. The callers assured Stell that if he would be good and promise to support the regular ticket the powers that be would take care of him in the future.

Mayor Stell was planning to run on a ticket containing the names of the regular Democratic candidates for members of Assembly and county offices.
